BedAvailability.com Launches Its Next Generation Website

MISSION VIEJO, CA -- (MARKET WIRE) -- 01/13/2007 --
BedAvailability.com, a California Corporation, has announced that its next generation website has been launched.

Laura Ferrall, President, states, "Once we launched our first website, it became evident that the users and facilities needed additional functionality so we needed to meet their needs."

"The site is also now programmed to allow us to add new program 'modules' to handle the expansion which is already in the programming phase," states Stuart Furman, CFO. One such module is for multiple facility discounts with small facilities. In particular, if an individual owns more than one small facility, BedAvailability.com offers a discount for the additional subscriptions. Given that approximately 40% of the small facility owners in California own more than one small facility, this will be a major savings for them.

Another "module" is a message board where users and care professionals can post their needs to be disseminated on a confidential basis to the subscribing facilities. "This module will dramatically change how, and how quickly and efficiently, residents are matched with appropriate facilities meeting the needs of the resident," adds Ms. Ferrall.

BedAvailability.com is now expanding its marketing to the southwest States, however, by the end of 2007, it expects to have facilities in most of the states in the U.S.
